

Two High School Buildings Are a Menace to Children Declares Inspector Hayes

"Both Structures Are a Disgrace to City and Should Be Torn Down at Once," He Tells a Constitution Representative.

MANY WILL BE DENIED SEATS IN THE SCHOOLS WHEN NEXT TERM OPENS

Two Buildings Already Jammed and It Will Be Absolutely Impossible to Crowd Any More Students in Next September.

Further evidence of the fact that Atlanta's school system is inadequate and unconstructive proof that the city government cannot conscientiously expect boys and girls of the city to jeopardize their lives and limbs by attending the high school buildings in the present "make-shift" sessions was brought out Monday in a declaration from Building Inspector Ed Hayes to the effect that both buildings are in a dangerous state of disrepair.

No alarming is the condition of the high school buildings—a condition which the city government has allowed to exist for several years—that Inspector Hayes has been called on four times during a single session to make inspections.

Should Be Demolished. According to the inspector, the high school buildings should be condemned by the city government. The law gives him the power to condemn a building when he finds it to be unsafe, whether it be from the danger of collapse or from the danger of fire.

Inspector Hayes says that the buildings are in danger from both. He says that he is in a powerless position to take action, for the reason that there is an appeal possible from any decision he may make.

"But there is no getting around the fact that both high school buildings are a disgrace to the city," Inspector Hayes said. "The high school buildings have been in use ever since I can remember, and from the time I have been in the building was an old affair at that time."

Conditions Almost as Bad. Outlines at the boys' high school are almost as bad, according to Inspector Hayes. He says that the frequent inspections of the boys' school buildings have convinced him that the school should be abandoned.

Instead of abandoning the buildings, and placing the children of the danger which constantly hovers over them, the city government has been pursuing a policy of "make-shift" sessions, which is a dangerous and unconstructive method.

There is not a classroom in either school that is not overcrowded. As a matter of fact, the boys' high school is now being run in the basement of the city hall, which has hindered the beginning of the school term in September.

The school has been patched up in such a way that it is almost impossible to run another class. Exactly 322 students are crowded into the various classrooms, and the boys' high school is now being run in the basement of the city hall, which has hindered the beginning of the school term in September.

Members of the education board and the teachers at both high schools have been aware of the danger of making further use of the old buildings. Miss Jessie Hays, principal of the high school for girls, is constantly on the alert to see that the school is safe.

Inspector Otis shared the opinion of Inspector Hayes. He says that the school buildings should be abandoned by the city.

62 LIVES MENACED WRECKED SHIP

Vessel Ashore Near San Francisco—Life-Savers Drowned Trying to Rescue. Little Hope Is Felt.

San Francisco, November 23.—Five members of a crew of life savers trying to reach the steam schooner Haniel, wrecked on Dunbar reef, 9 miles north of San Francisco, were drowned tonight.

Two of the Haniel's crew were drowned late today while trying to make their way through the narrow channel of the reef.

The lives of sixty-two other men and women clinging to the sloping decks of the fast breaking up schooner hung in the balance. There is one infant on board.

The thick fog prevented ships from aiding the Haniel and when darkness closed in and the rescue craft sought safety in deep water it was realized the only possible hope was to get a line out from shore.

The crew of the Golden Gate life saving station started to the scene of the wreck with a line-hauling mortar.

Two of the Haniel's boats, upside down and a life raft, were washed on the beach. The steam schooner lay a few hundred yards off shore, blanketed in the fog which led her to the reef and which shut off sight and sound alike.

Just at dusk a rift in the fog revealed a glimpse of the doomed vessel, and it was by the surf. The wind brought indistinguishable cries from the passengers and crew.

The fog was so thick that persons 50 feet apart could not see each other and a little deck of schooner and tug to get such a price for it.

The Haniel left Bureka, Cal., yesterday. She is 465 tons and is owned by the Independent Steamship company, of Los Angeles.

Frank Case Goes to Other Juges

Attorneys Will Exhaust Every Effort to Get Hearing Before Full Bench of Supreme Court.

Washington, November 23.—(Special.)—Associate Justice Joseph R. Lamar denied this afternoon the application of Leo M. Frank's lawyers for a writ of error which would bring this murder case before the supreme court and stay the execution of the death sentence.

Frank's lawyers are preparing an appeal to each of the other members of the court in succession. For this reason they have declined to make public the memorandum prepared by Justice Lamar in denying the application for the writ.

Harry A. Alexander and Henry C. Peeples, the Atlanta lawyers, are still here and will begin tomorrow the courtship of the supreme court. They are the only counsel who have been named by the supreme court.

Justice Lamar has before him in deciding the case would come before the supreme court for a decision as to whether Frank was denied a substantial right in not being present in the courtroom when the verdict of "guilty" was returned.

Pastor in Clash With Charities

Dr. John E. White Defends His Plan to Aid Suffering From Attack Made by Social Workers.

That the plan of Dr. John E. White, pastor of the Second Methodist church, to open the doors of his church in feeding wheat to the unemployed, furnished them hot lunches and coffee and place coats for them at night in the church basement, will prove disastrous in many ways for the city, was the expression of the Associated Charities of Atlanta Monday afternoon.

Miss Emma Thomson, assistant to Secretary Logan, declared that the city should prevent such a plan going into effect.

In reply to this statement Dr. White said that he himself was one of the founders and directors of the charities and that he was not going to let the city prevent his plan.

It was the business of that institution to help the needy and not to let the city prevent his plan.

Yellow Jackets in Last Game

SPORTS—CONDUCTED BY DICK JENSON.

Yellow Jackets Will Uncork Auburn's Title Claims Everything in Their Grip Against the Clemson Tigers

When the Tech Yellow Jackets line up against the Clemson Tigers on Thanksgiving day, they will have everything in their grip. Every play that they know will be shot at the Tigers.

There are many who believe that the Jackets will win. We do not share that opinion. We are willing to stand by the result of the games and the Jackets will win. We do not share that opinion. We are willing to stand by the result of the games and the Jackets will win.

For our part, we like the Jackets, and like them with a good margin. The Jackets will win. We do not share that opinion. We are willing to stand by the result of the games and the Jackets will win.

Stop Long Spence. Over Georgia would claim that they have considerable credit on Tech, but Tech was the team against Georgia that she will win on Thursday day.

The Clemson team is stronger than was last year. Everyone admits that. But they will face a stronger team than they have faced in several seasons.

Clemson has rolled up her big scores on long runs. She did this in the game with Georgia. But she is not so strong as she was last year. The Jackets will win. We do not share that opinion. We are willing to stand by the result of the games and the Jackets will win.

PLAY CITY PREP TITLE. Boys' and Tech High Scheduled to Play Turkey Day.

The local prep league will close one of the most successful seasons it has ever known. Thanksgiving day, when Boys' High played Tech High in their annual battle, the game to be played on the Tech gridiron at Great field. This game will bring to a close one of the most exciting years ever known by the prep league in prep history, and the winner will be awarded the championship of the city in prep honors, and is nearly always the best game of the year, and is written both teams fight hard for the supremacy.

How Has Boys' High? The race for the league last season has been unusually tight, and every team in the league has played exceptionally good football. Boys' High has upset more than once, and the games have been played so far have been in nearly every instance hard-fought affairs. There have been two tie affairs. Boys' High participating in both of them. Donald Fraser and J. M. A. both tied B. H. in great games. To a score have been close, and in every game both teams have fought gamely to the last.

Tech High seems to have had the best of the season. They have defeated all of the prep teams, and have suffered defeat only once. They have defeated Tech High, and have defeated Tech High. They have defeated Tech High, and have defeated Tech High.

Tech High Favorites. The hope, if it is possible to figure down to a point, is that Tech High will have a good season. They have defeated Tech High, and have defeated Tech High.

Coach Wood of Boys' High has had a team practicing hard since the G. M. game two weeks ago, while Coach Martin of Tech High has had his boys

Tech Heavier. Tech will be heavier and every bit as fast as the Tigers. It is logical reasoning to presume that, everything else being equal, the Jackets would have the advantage because of their weight.

Tech is not going into this game overconfident. We are not trying to make our opinion of how we think the game will come out. We are not trying to make our opinion of how we think the game will come out.

Regardless of the outcome, the size of the score or any other options, if the day is clear and cool, or clear, with a little touch of warmth in the air, Atlanta fans are going to see a fast, snappy game.

This is not by reason of the fact that the Jackets are going to win. This is not by reason of the fact that the Jackets are going to win.

Arkansas Blazing With Forest Fires

State in Flames From End to End—Smoke Causing Railroad Wrecks.

Little Rock, Ark., November 22.—The state of Arkansas is ablaze almost from end to end with forest fires, which are devastating huge tracts of timber on thousands of acres of land in powerlessness to be made in a day's time as a fire-dampening organization, according to Governor George W. Hays today.

The condition of the state treasury, the depletion of the militia fund and the general disorganization of the state guard forces, the governor declared, made such action impossible. Requests for assistance in fighting the spreading flames have been received in Little Rock from twelve counties, and upwards of 1000 men and teams have been sent to the governor.

From Texarkana, in the extreme southwest to Jonesboro, in the north, the flames have been seen in the woods and are burning along railroad tracks and great areas of land have been back further into the timbered areas. Arkansas Blazing With Forest Fires

State in Flames From End to End—Smoke Causing Railroad Wrecks.

Little Rock, Ark., November 22.—The state of Arkansas is ablaze almost from end to end with forest fires, which are devastating huge tracts of timber on thousands of acres of land in powerlessness to be made in a day's time as a fire-dampening organization, according to Governor George W. Hays today.

The condition of the state treasury, the depletion of the militia fund and the general disorganization of the state guard forces, the governor declared, made such action impossible. Requests for assistance in fighting the spreading flames have been received in Little Rock from twelve counties, and upwards of 1000 men and teams have been sent to the governor.

From Texarkana, in the extreme southwest to Jonesboro, in the north, the flames have been seen in the woods and are burning along railroad tracks and great areas of land have been back further into the timbered areas. BLACK RUST RUMOR MADE WHEAT RALLY

Chicago Exchange Re-opened Monday and Prediction Is New York Will Do Likewise Very Soon.

New York, November 22.—That the stock exchange is certain to reopen for limited business on the 23rd and the end of the month was the substance of the assurances received today from responsible banking and brokerage authorities. It was declared most of the houses with Wall street connections now favor resumption of bond trading subject, of course, to price concessions.

A canvass of the more important local thinking indicated that conflicting opinions respecting the probable extent of foreign offerings to early renewal of dealings. Some houses of prominence asserted that buying orders for their books far exceeded what they could sell, but the prospect of a market to sell, albeit limited, almost entirely to high-grade issues.

Houses with German connections freely admitted the possibility of heavy selling orders and intimations of a change of mind were not infrequently bankers representing French and Dutch interests. It was noteworthy, however, that these overshadowing factors exercised little, if any, influence on the business transacted during the day in the private market for bonds, all of which were at or near their recent high

The reopening of the Chicago stock exchange attracted considerable attention. The fact that some of the more active stocks traded in there changed hands at prices approximately 10 per cent higher than those with satisfaction. Dealings were on a moderate scale and denoted much caution. The London or foreign exchange failed to reflect any developments of importance across the water. Cables and eight bills on London were notably high. The demand for cotton figured prominently.

Money for all dates was offered at 5 per cent, indicating further monetary ease.

News from the middle west indicated a weakening of activity in various lines of industry.

Chicago Exchange Reopens.—The Chicago stock exchange opened its doors today and trading was resumed where it stopped July 30, when, with other trading centers, the exchange closed because of the European war.

The Chicago exchange is the first of the broad official markets for securities throughout the world to resume

Business began with the closing figures of July 30 as a basis for transactions. In the next ten minutes 100 shares of various stocks changed hands. A representative crowd of brokers was on hand, and smiles and congratulations passed between the traders.

Since August 14 deals have been transacted through the medium of a trading committee, which authorized transfers of stocks at figures higher than the July 30 prices.

Chicago, November 22.—Fear of black rust in Argentina caused wheat and barley sharp in the last hour. Spot Prices, after having been heavy, closed strong, 3-8 1/2-3 to 5-8 net higher. Other leading staples all finished at a steady compared with Saturday night. Corn 1-1/2 to 1-5/8; soybeans 1-3 to 1-5/8; 1-2 and provisions 5 to 15c.

Harvest advices from Argentina have been decidedly against the bulls, but a recent dispatch brought word of a torrential rain, and a decrease in black rust. The ensuing price turnup was accompanied by admission that seaboard exporters were after wheat in large quantities. Announcement that in 1914 wheat crop in Kansas was the largest ever raised by that state had a good deal to do with depressing the market early. Prices recovered to some extent when the late rally started in wheat. Oats suffered from the closing out of spreads between corn and oats, the latter being sold at a profit. Scarciness, though, helped to steady the market. Provisions weakened under selling by packers.
